A warm and comprehensive child-centered approach to early childhood education Who Am I in the Lives of Children? An Introduction to Early Childhood Education presents a constructivist approach to early childhood education (birth to grade 3) and care programs that is dedicated to the development of the whole child—physical, social, emotional, and intellectual. With its practical orientation; personal voice; appealing photographs, videos, authentic children’s classroom work; and engaging stories, it allows readers to visualize effective classroom practices. Aspiring educators are encouraged to learn about each child’s strengths, interests, and challenges. This understanding, coupled with contemporary, research-based information, inspires readers to support each child’s growth and learning in ways that are in harmony with who they are, rather than according to a predetermined plan. The Enhanced Pearson eText features embedded video and assessments. Improve mastery and retention with the Enhanced Pearson eText*

In this paper, I will discuss professional milestones that have led me to where I am now. I will discuss my professional philosophy statement that I have created; as well as connecting some of the statements I make throughout my philosophy with some philosophers that inspire me. As of now, I am in my 4th semester of the early childhood education program. Currently, I am on my 4th placement in a public school where I am working in the kindergarten room with JK/SK split. Additionally, I am taking another course on top of my regular course load to be able to branch into the degree program they are offering here at the Conestoga College.
